BRITISH-FRENCH TRADE PACT SIGNED

Agreement Ends Long-drawn-out Dispute Between Two Nations

By George Hamilton, Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, June 29.—A trade agreement between Britain and France, to run till next April, with provision for a long-drawn-out trade battle between the two nations.

The dispute ran back to the dramatic days of more than two years ago when Britain dropped off the gold standard. It ended yesterday evening in the signing of a most-favored-nation agreement embodying concessions on both sides, but chiefly noteworthy in its provisions for a tariff pact.

On the plea of depreciated sterling, France imposed a 15 per cent surtax on a wide range of British goods shortly after the United Kingdom left gold in September, 1931. Britain protested and the surtax was withdrawn, but the French government put into force a drastic new policy of quotas beginning under which most of the United Kingdom's exports to France were reduced to 25 per cent of their former amount.

TREATY PROVISIONS

The main provisions of the new agreement, summarized, follow:

Each country undertakes to grant the other most-favored-nation treatment.

All French quotas on British goods are to be restored to 100 per cent, calculated on the basis period which, generally, is 1928.

The British 25 per cent surtax on French goods is abolished.

Guarantees are given as to the quantities of many of the more important classes of United Kingdom goods subject to French quota restrictions, which will be determined from the United Kingdom during the period of the agreement.

COAL TRADE

Britain retains the lion's share of the French coal trade. France undertakes to maintain the full existing percentage quota in turn British mine owners agree to take steps to improve production.

The United Kingdom agrees to establish import duties on manufactured silk, with rates showing only a slightly upward tendency. At the same time British exporters have protective spread in favor of the home manufacturers by cutting the duties on raw silk in half.

The United Kingdom reduces import duties on certain varieties of French cut flowers, on early salads and asparagus.

TOURIST TRADE

With a view to stimulating mutual tourist trade, both countries have put printed publications advertising travel on the free list.

The agreement will be brought provisionally into force on August 11, pending ratification. It is to remain in effect until April, 1935, but thereafter may be continued, subject to the right of either government to denounce it at any time on three months' notice.

CANADA NOT AFFECTED

Ottawa, June 29.—Negotiations of a trade agreement between the United Kingdom and France is expected to have little or no effect on Canadian trade. Canada is not a competitor with France in the British market, nor with Britain in the French market on any important commodities.

REDS ARE BUSY IN CALIFORNIA

Organizer Says Strikes Are Part of Widespread Communist Attempts

Associated Press

San Francisco, June 29.—Official reports yesterday disclosed California has been selected as a focal point in the Communist world-wide revolutionary movement.

Recent strikes in the rich Imperial and San Joaquin agricultural sections were declared by Albert Rogard, Sacramento Communist organizer, to be part of a wide-spread revolutionary program aimed at overthrow of established governments.

Federal state and agricultural organization officials agreed with Communists that California was particularly vulnerable to the planned revolutionary movement because its perishable crops require quick handling.

SCHOOLS AT WORK

The Communists are conducting schools in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Sacramento, teaching the principles of their belief.

The workers no longer believe in the advice handed out by William Green, head of the American Federation of Labor, that they should not strike at a crisis because public sentiment would be against them.

Rogard declared in an interview.

The loganberry strike has proved a crisis in the psychological time to press the issue.

Rogard denied, however, members of his organization planned to destroy crops.

STORM SWEEPS PRAIRIE AREA

Prince Albert, Sask., June 29.—A near cloudburst accompanied by hail swept across northern Saskatchewan overnight, two and a fifth inches of rain falling here in less than two hours.

Streams were flooded over the curb as storm sewers proved unequal to the task of handling the unusually heavy load. Basements were flooded and hillside streets appeared more like mountain torrents. According to reports, the storm swept across northern Saskatchewan, progressing westward.

BOY KILLED BY BITE OF SPIDER

Associated Press

Olympia, Wash., June 29.—A two-year-old Olympia boy died yesterday from what his attending physician, Dr. Frank A. Hartung, Olympia, said was the bite of a black widow spider.

The child, Dean O'Brien Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean O'Brien of Olympia, was bitten on the ankle seven days ago while playing in a sandpit pile in which there were several spiders, Dr. Hartung said.

It was first believed the ankle of the boy had been bruised, but two days after he had been bitten, the ankle started to swell and infection set in.

No other cases of persons being bitten by black widow spiders are known to be on record in this locality.

THE APOLOGISTS

EASTERN CONSERVATIVE NEWS-papers are trying to find an explanation for the defeat of the Henry government in Ontario. The most reason advanced by The Toronto Mail and Empire is "the weakness of democracy"—inability of the "average voter" to understand the issues. The Ottawa Journal, however, goes The Mail and Empire one better, and says the result of the election was a manifestation of "that vicious practice" of democracy—"always crucifying its kings." And it thinks that on June 19 "the public, oblivious to facts and records, forgetful of service, joined in full cry with the pack at the government's heels; helped and gloried in its destruction. It was the old rabble cry of 'crucify him!'"

This is too much altogether for The Toronto Star, which says as a matter of plain fact, if anyone crucified Mr. Henry it was Mr. Henry himself. The attempt to portray him as a martyr—a martyr to democracy's failure to understand the issues—is an insult to the intelligence of the people of Ontario. It was because they did know the "facts and records" that they threw him and his government into the discard. They knew the government's record, and they saw it, as a last desperate measure, attempting to bribe them with roads and roadwork.

This is the view of The Orillia Packet and Times: "The government attempted to win support by lavish expenditures of money on highways. This, at a time when the call is for economy, was flying in the face of public opinion, and it is a pretty safe guess that for every vote that their road building programme won it cost the government half a dozen. Moreover, the spectacle of thousands of men strung along the roads accentuated the growing revulsion against the whole system of political patronage which has been built up of recent years and which, there is strong suspicion, has cost the province a pot of money."

Finally, it should be obvious to every thinking person that democracy's habit of changing its governments gives an opportunity to men of all parties to serve, and, be it noted, it is certainly long enough since Liberals have had an opportunity to serve in Ontario—nearly thirty years, excluding the Drury farmer government of 1919-1923.

CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES

WRITING IN THE REVIEW OF RE-views, New York, Dr. Albert Shaw, a well-known United States editor and publicist, argues that it is an urgently important thing that the United States should be willing to go far in offering generous trade inducements to this country. To have broken down a great volume of desirable trade between Canada and the United States, because of the rivalry between two sets of wheat speculators, he points out, has been the disastrous result of a policy adopted at the behest of lobby interests professing the exclusive right to speak for American farmers.

In 1930, Canada imported from the United States goods for consumption to the total value of $847,442,000. This figure had shrunk in 1931 to $384,407,000; in 1932 to $327,631,000; in 1933 to $203,387,000. Dr. Shaw admits this does not represent a very great loss in proportion to Canada's total imports. But he complains of a decided drift away from trade between these two contiguous countries. He then proceeds:

"This commercial separation is not fortunate for either of them, looking to the future. . . . Taking advantage of the Ottawa preference agreements, Canada's exports to Great Britain have increased in three years from twenty-five per cent to forty per cent of her total external trade. While we are losing sales to Canada, year by year, the British manufacturers are increasing their Canadian sales. This tendency is abnormal, and is wholly due to tariff discrimination. It should be met by generous offers and skillful negotiations. We must buy a great deal more from Canada, in order to restore our former percentage of sales in return."

"The American agitators for high tariffs to protect our farm prices have not understood this trade problem. To build up our industries by resuming our former volume of exports to Canada, Cuba, and other neighbors, is to increase the consumption of farm products here at home."

CANADIAN CATTLE SHIPMENTS

AS THE OTTAWA AGREEMENTS CON-cerning meat imports by Great Britain expire to-morrow, a statement by the British government must be shortly expected.

Agricultural interests in Great Britain have been led by inaccurate official statements to blame Canada among other Dominions for the low price of home-killed beef in the British market. As a matter of fact, the total shipments of Canadian cattle sent to Great Britain last year only amounted to 53,000 head, which is insufficient to feed the country for one day. It is, therefore, obviously foolish and inaccurate to attribute the depression in beef prices to Canada's exports.

There is no possibility for many years to come, we are told, of Canada supplying any substantial quantity of the "baby beef" to Britain which the Argentine now supplies. But it is directly in line with the Ottawa agreements that Canada with the other Dominions should as far as possible replace the Argentine in the British market. This adjustment, however, must take time, as no sudden change in the direction of Britain's food supplies could be possible.

The large British investments in the Argentine, of course, make it imperative to accept interest payments in the form of commodities, and this fact is sometimes overlooked.

CLEAR THEM UP

THERE ARE MANY VACANT LOTS IN the residential sections of Victoria that are not only unsightly in themselves but, contain weeds, the seeds of which, in our windy atmosphere, are blown out to improved property on which large sums in taxes must be paid.

The city must pay out considerable sums in relief. It has to accept part of the responsibility for the prevailing economic conditions. But it would seem to be a good plan if a general clear up of these unsightly spots were undertaken, if only to make these parts of the city a more pleasant sight to the eye of the visitor.

Well may it be said that owners of untidy vacant lots should improve them if they can afford to do so, but those lots which belong to the city, at any rate, ought to be made presentable. Some of them might be temporarily beautified with flowers until they are sold and houses built upon them.

CATHOLIC LEAD IN MEMBERSHIP

THE ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH HAS the largest membership of any sect or religion in the world, according to figures published by the central committee for the Holy Year, and set out in The Literary Digest.

The percentages of the world population belonging to each group are given as follows: Catholic 19, Confucians 16.4, Muslims 13, Hindus 12.1, Buddhists 10.8, Protestants 8.9, Schismatics 7.1, Animists 6.6, Atheists 4.1, Jews nine-tenths of one per cent.

In North America, according to the same authority, the Roman Catholics number 52,513,320, or thirty-three per cent; non-Catholic Christians 85,540,818, or fifty-four per cent; non-Christians 21,000,130, or thirteen per cent.

For Europe the figures are: Roman Catholics 201,855,900, or forty-three per cent; non-Catholic Christians 234,529,575, or fifty per cent; non-Christians 31,340,816, or seven per cent.

In South America: Roman Catholics 73,050,585, or ninety-seven per cent; non-Catholic Christians 1,552,602, or two per cent.

In Africa: Roman Catholics 5,387,678, or four per cent; non-Catholic Christians 9,103,725, or seven per cent; non-Christians 125,574,030, or eighty-nine per cent.

In Asia: Roman Catholics 17,038,874, or two per cent; non-Catholic Christians 9,450,545, or one per cent; non-Christians 970,354,614, or ninety-seven per cent.

BETTER BUSINESS

THE FIGURES OF CANADIAN EX-ports of softwoods to Great Britain for the first quarter of this year are satisfactory and encouraging. Canada is now by far the largest exporter. The imports for the three months show that our share was 212,000 loads, out of a total of 614,000 loads imported. This compares with only 55,000 loads shipped by Canada in the same quarter last year, which clearly indicates the improvement in Canadian trade, which is enjoying the benefit of the ten per cent preference on empire timber. Of course, Canadian exporters have been substantially helped by the quota imposed on Russian shipments in accordance with the agreement made at Ottawa. It is satisfactory to learn that the future prospects of the timber trade with Britain are most encouraging, especially to this province.

Now that after more than two years' deliberation the Disarmament Conference is being written off as a total loss as far as any real accomplishment is concerned, the business of adding to the already huge pile of existing armaments is about to begin in earnest—and we are again being regaled with the old ditty about being prepared for war as the best guarantee of peace.

Premier Ramsay MacDonald has been invited by Mayor L. D. Taylor of Vancouver to come to British Columbia for the restful holiday which his medical advisers have prescribed for him. The British Prime Minister, who obviously is beginning to show the effects of responsibility of office in trying times, could not do better than take this advice. He would be assured of a warm welcome from the people of this province.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

TRAGEDY OF YEARS
The Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph

The tragedy of growing old for the great majority of people is to realize that life has passed them by and left them behind while they still survive, inactive and forgotten. The friends they knew, the associates they labored with, the witnesses of their careers have almost all preceded them, and younger generations have grown up to which they are at best more names—and fortunate to be so much. There are not many Borden or Mulock who manage to hold their place upon the public scene when far beyond the Biblical span of three-score years and ten.

CUSTODIANS OF ENGLISH
The London Spectator

It has been my good fortune lately to talk daily with an agricultural laborer of the old type. He is seventy and looks sixty. He is no great scholar. He has spent all his life on the land.

If your speech was complicated as all he would probably fail to understand you, but he talks more perfect English than any man of my acquaintance. "The maddie wished me to dig the bed a little higher this way." "It is the valley springs that feed the river." "I'll put it in the shed where I can lay my hands on it any time." After telling him which his of land to trench or "joshie dig," as he says, I went to London and heard a clerk, going the same place, say to his neighbor about some extinct thing: "It's absolutely non-est." Doubtless he is a bit of a scholar in his way; but the old laborer would have said: "The place of it is no more seen," or used some similar farm idiom preserving for us to tell to-day the English that once was.

Are the habits of thought, the essential wisdom of the two types, at all like their speech, wonder? However that may be, there is nothing like the vernacular, even though it be a comparatively late vernacular.

Loose Ends

Yes, it's all absurd, of course, but the public likes it that way. Poetry surges up on all sides for this weather—a local bard prepares to enter politics—and a nameless Victorian refuses his dinner.

By R. B. W.

NO THRILL

THIS PAPER was protesting the other night against the absurdity of our electoral system, under which Parliaments never represent the true sentiment of the country; under which, for example, the new Legislature of Ontario and Saskatchewan will be overwhelmingly Liberal and the minority parties will have hardly any members at all, though they secured big votes. Proportional representation is the only way you can set up Parliaments which reflect the public sentiment with any degree of accuracy and we would have had it long ago, but for the public.

There is nothing unusual about proportional representation, no denying its accuracy and sound mathematical basis. But the public distrusts it. The public always distrusts anything it can't understand, and this, not the stupidity of the politicians, as you suppose, is the real barrier to reform. Besides, the public's main interest in an election is the elemental interest of blood and battle, the same instinct which made the old Romans watch the gladiators and now makes the cultured people of this village go to see a rough gent named Cunniff over a monstrous dunce named Curran. The public's interest is not in the refinements of political science, but in the human question—why win? That known, on election night, the public goes to work the next morning and forgets about it.

That is the real trouble with proportional representation. It takes the thrill out of elections. Several days often are required to straighten out the vote, and see who really was elected, how many members the victorious party is going to have. There is no kick in that. There is no fun in going home on election night not knowing whether your friend, Bill, was elected or not. In these things the public wants a sudden death, a knock-out blow. Otherwise, it feels that it has been cheated of the show it paid dearly to see.

And so our Parliaments seldom represent the sentiments of the electorate. The wonder is that they often do what the public wants—because they are always afraid of the next election. Remove that, remove the threat of an election, set up a dictator, and you'll soon perceive the difference. That must be the worst of all, you won't be allowed to kick about it. That must be the worst of all, you won't be allowed to kick about it. That must be the worst of all, you won't be allowed to kick about it.

POETIC IMPULSES

YOU CAN'T LABOR long at a job like this without realizing, with pride and satisfaction, that below the dull outer surface of our modern life lies a reserve of poetic longing as deep as the ocean, and almost as large. You go about your business, and not to follow on the street and say to yourself that their souls never craved anything more elevated than a two-bit cigar and a raise in pay. But you don't know them, sir, you don't know them.

It is just such fellows as that who will go home and sit in secret writing poetry. That is no guesswork on my part—the actual output of poetry proves it. Why a veritable tidal wave of poetry has lately washed in over these shores and threatened to drown the whole community in a sea of sweet rhythm. Fortunately for you, however, it all washed into my mail and I was able to stop it and push it back, like little Peter at the dyke, before it devastated the entire city.

SIDE GLANCES

By George Clark

"Now, these neighbors won't bother you. Never show wild parties or anything."

most poet. Were I to reveal that poems have lately come from the pen of a prominent B.C. who is the very essence of a dull Victorian property in court, from a politician whose speeches are heart-breaking in their futility, from a funny old fellow who runs a second-hand store and from a policeman in Vancouver—were I to reveal the secret positions, the divine urges which using your neighbors as night only to be hidden under the usual mask of stupidity in the morning, you would be appalled.

But if you had any appreciation for higher things, which I sometimes doubt, you would rejoice to see how, even in this wretched age, even among your dull friends, some better instincts still remain.

LOFTY SENTIMENT

THE TROUBLE is that I can't print these poems. I can't even acknowledge them, except in a general way here. If I were to acknowledge them all, and the other letters that come here, I would do nothing else, with a few exceptions, but to read them, full of shocking sentiments, but typical of the splendid verse which is coming from every community poet this summer.

I just print one charming fragment, inspired, perhaps, by the elections in Ontario and Saskatchewan, full of shocking sentiments, but typical of the splendid verse which is coming from every community poet this summer.

WASTED FAST

SOMETIMES YOU come across the strangest things in the classified ads. Indeed, I sometimes think that they are more interesting and entertaining than the Legislature.

SUPERVISOR CHILDREN'S PLAY-GROUNDS

To the Editor—Parents and teachers are anxious that children, like birds, need space and sunshine, happiness and freedom in which to grow and develop.

Fortunate is the family that can all go on a holiday together, with their boys and girls away to hills and woods and sea during the summer days, where the children can expand like flowers in the sun.

But it is usually only the privilege of the favored classes that are financially able to do that and perhaps there are some of those parents who have not the time or ability to organize a day-to-day programme of recreation for their children.

Would it not be advisable to follow the example and adopt the system now popular in several European countries and also in several Canadian cities and establish a branch locally of what are known as Day Colonies—or Children in the Sun.

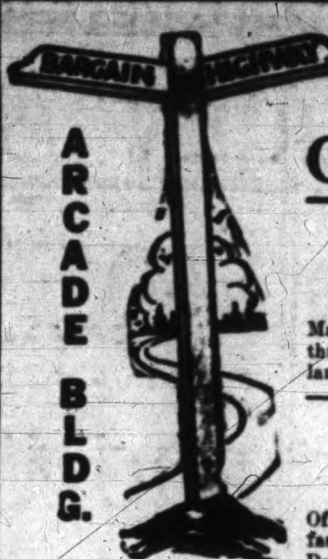

There are a number of men and women here who have the experience and tact necessary to supervise and plan a schedule on a large scale for daily outings preferably to the municipal playgrounds and little ones show for our youth and little ones.

In other cities the municipal authorities co-operate with the churches and other organizations for the transportation of the groups, and it is a most attractive sight to see these cars or buses brimming over with happy children singing and shouting, en route to and from the playgrounds.

Usually a small charge of a few cents a day is made for every child that can afford it for an excellent sit-down meal at midday that fits in with the carefully arranged programme that runs its gay and tranquil course with religion, patriotism, swimming, sun-bathing, mental, moral and physical exercises and the rest-house and having a place.

Boys, especially during the long summer vacation, need the discipline of other boys in organized play and competitive games under the direction of kindly but firm and efficient supervisors.

Kinmen Arranging Schedule For National Gathering Here in August

The programme and arrangements for the national convention of Kinmen Clubs of Canada, which will be held in Victoria August 2, 3 and 4, were prepared by members of the local club at their meeting yesterday evening.

Committee of the club and the national officers have been working hard during the last few weeks in preparation for the event, which is expected to bring to Victoria about 300 visitors from all parts of the Dominion.

Following the usual custom of having all national officers members of the host club, the executives who will preside over the convention are Victoria members. Dr. Arthur Poynta, a past president of the local club is national president.

At their meeting yesterday evening the members outlined the proposed programme after which two hours were devoted to consideration of constitutional amendments and resolutions to be brought forward at the convention.

The three-day schedule follows:

INDEPENDENCE
IS FORESEEN

Philippine Islands to Have Self Control in Ten Years, Says Congress Member

Ten years after home government is established in the Philippine Islands, United States will proclaim and recognize their independence, predicted Pedro Guervara, Philippine resident commissioner to U.S. at the Dominion Hotel here yesterday.

Mr. Guervara is returning to his home at Manila after an absence of eleven years in Washington. By virtue of his position he is a member of Congress, having been re-elected four times.

Mr. Guervara was wholly satisfied with the Independence Act, or McDuffry Tiding Act, as it is also known. Under this proclamation the people of the Philippines have been given the right to form and adopt their own constitution and establish their own government.

Mr. Guervara pointed out the people were also to be given the right to elect their own chief executive, which was a system not wholly enjoyed by any other nation.

His prime purpose in returning to Manila is for the July 10 elections, when candidates will be named to attend the constitutional convention at which the island's constitution will be set up. He will be a candidate for a position as delegate.

The convention will be held on July 30. Mr. Guervara, whose political party is aligned with the Democrats of the United States, was a great admirer of President Roosevelt. He spoke highly of his courage and diplomatic strategy, and felt the people were greatly indebted to him for the change he has brought about since taking office. This change, he noted, was remarkable and would have been more so if it had not been for the political opposition he had received.

Mr. Guervara will sail for home tomorrow aboard the Empress of Japan.

Half Century As Island Teacher

J. Howitt, Alberni School Principal, Honored on Retirement; May Write History of District

Special to The Times
Alberni, June 29.—Complimenting J. Howitt, principal of the Alberni public school, who is retiring after fifty-four years of service, fifty-six of which have been in the employ of the Alberni School Board, the teachers and school trustees of the district held a private banquet at the Astoria hotel Wednesday night.

In the course of the proceedings Mr. Howitt was presented with a set of hair brushes and comb, and a smoking stand.

Max Wright, president of the teachers' association and local representative on the regional council president as chairman, and paid tribute to Mr. Howitt.

W. G. Bignora, chairman of the Alberni School Board, expressed the appreciation of the trustees for what Mr. Howitt had done for the district in his forty years of service.

Miss Anne Prescott, senior teacher of the school staff, paid tribute to Mr. Howitt as a teacher and a superior.

E. J. Cronk, of the Port Alberni Teachers' Association, pointed out to the teachers how much had happened in Alberni during the forty years Mr. Howitt had been in the school.

After Mr. Howitt had thanked the guests, E. E. Murray, principal of the Port Alberni public school, suggested Mr. Howitt should be prevailed to spend some of his spare time in writing a history of the Alberni district, since there was none as well qualified as he.

The evening was concluded with a private showing by W. C. Hamilton of moving pictures of the district.

High Temperatures From Atlantic to Region of the Rockies

Associated Press

Chicago, June 29.—More than a score of deaths were attributed today to stifling temperatures that scorched much of the United States from the Rockies to the Atlantic seaboard. Generally speaking, no immediate relief was in sight.

Town apparently was the hardest hit, with six deaths yesterday, three due to prostrations and three to drownings. A maximum of 107 degrees was reached at Waterloo.

Many victims in other states died when they took to the water to escape the baking heat. Nebraska counted three dead, Illinois one, Maryland three, Michigan four, Ohio four, western Pennsylvania three and Indiana two.

An all time heat record of 112 was registered at Matteson, Ill., while in Chicago, where one person died from the heat and scores were prostrated, the mercury hit 96—a new high for the date.

Franklin, Pa., saw a reading of 101, the hottest in its history.

Only car under $4000 with a V-8 Engine
NEW FORD V-8

Definite reasons for the superior performance and efficiency of the V-type engine

THERE'S no guessing about the superiority of V-type engines. They hold every major record on land, on water and in the air. For years they have been used for the finest motor cars in this country.

We designed a V-type engine for the Ford because it has certain basic, fundamental advantages that cannot be duplicated in any other type. It costs more to build a V-type engine—a great deal more. But we absorb that cost for the sake of getting better performance on the road. Here are just a few of the advantages of Ford V-8 design.

MORE EFFICIENT DESIGN—The Ford V-8 engine is more efficient because the eight cylinders are divided into two short banks of four each and placed opposite each other in a compact V-shape design—instead of being strung out in a long straight line.

ONE-PIECE CASTING of cylinder blocks, crankcase and exhaust passages. An exclusive Ford V-8 engine feature that means better performance and economy. Keeps operating parts in permanent alignment by providing exceptional rigidity for entire engine. Also increases smoothness, gives longer life to bearings and all moving parts.

BETTER FUEL DISTRIBUTION—Shorter and more direct fuel passages to cylinders increase engine efficiency.

SIMPLER COOLING SYSTEM—Ford V-8 design brings all cylinders close together and results in simpler cooling system within the engine.

MORE EFFICIENT LUBRICATION—Oil flows are shorter in the Ford because of V-8 design. Less distance for oil to travel. More efficient lubrication.

GREATER SMOOTHNESS—Because of inherently correct engine balance resulting from 90° V-8 design with 90° spacing of crankshafts on fully counterbalanced crankshaft. Friction weighing of pistons and connecting rods secure accurate running balance.

INCREASED BODY ROOM—Ford V-8 engine takes up less space in hood because of shorter, more compact design. It is one reason why the Ford V-8 has more interior room than any other large car.

The Ford V-8 engine is outstanding in service because it combines V-8 performance with economy. It delivers more horsepower per gallon of fuel than any Ford engine ever built.

NEW KIND OF REFRIGERATION

Conditioned Air Plant Installed at B.C. Market

A new kind of refrigeration is being installed in the installation of a conditioned air plant at B.C. Market, 632 Yates Street. It is "conditioned air" refrigeration, made and installed by Canadian General Electric Company Ltd. through the local office of the company, 120 Pemberton Building. The installation was in charge of E. F. Irvine, General Electric specialist in commercial refrigeration for General Electric.

As the B.C. Market conditioned air refrigeration has been applied both in the show window and the large meat cooler, so that all meats kept in the market are constantly maintained under conditions most favorable to preservation of their freshness and wholesomeness.

As explained by Chas. Ireland, Victoria Manager for General Electric, the new system of refrigeration not only maintains a constantly low temperature but also keeps a constant forced circulation of air that keeps temperature even in all parts of the cooling system.

It is the fact that all cooled air is kept at an operating degree of humidity, moisture is supplied by an automatic operating mechanism so that the chief drawbacks to refrigeration—drying-out, which causes shrinkage, and transfer of odors, is absolutely prevented. Temperature range is constant at from 55 to 60 degrees Fahrenheit; humidity is kept at 50 to 60 per cent, and all air is exchanged every twelve seconds so as to preserve original flavor, freshness and colors of foods.

lightening than any other part of the paper. I remember that you take a sheet of some time and read every one of them. For example, what weird yearnings, what a world of intriguing possibilities, lie behind the announcement in the classified page the other night that a Vancouver gentleman is about to make a long fast and would like to get into touch with a physician who would enjoy observing the effects thereof for scientific purposes.

By this time, I dare say, the names of some of science have started on fast. At this moment, perhaps, he is in the first pangs of hunger and is casting every atom of will power to avoid food. Yes, somewhere in the teeming population of this city tonight some fellow is acutely hungry, while you read this after a good dinner and imagine that life is a pretty comfortable arrangement after all.

But what a waste of fasting is here! Great things are possible if a fast is properly stage-managed. The hunger strikers of Ireland helped to set up the Free State. Mr. Gandhi used to be able to refuse his dinner and send the whole British Government into the jitter. It seems a pity that a fast here in Victoria should be for no purpose but scientific observation by some doctor fellow who will merely go out over the symptoms. Surely if somebody is to undertake all the trouble of a fast it should be to some real purpose, as a stirring protest against something or other.

There are so many things that need protesting against. I mean, a man who is fully resolved on this desperate course might as well perform some real public service while he is at it, might as well fast in protest, for instance, against the refusal of the Bennett Government to resign when the country has obviously turned against it. Or if his mind does not run to politics, or propaganda, he is a supporter of our great province, Mr. Finlayson, and doesn't want to embarrass that gentleman any more than he is embarrassed already, then let him protest against something of more general interest and against something that will prove against the Bennett Government.

As explained by Chas. Ireland, Victoria Manager for General Electric, the new system of refrigeration not only maintains a constantly low temperature but also keeps a constant forced circulation of air that keeps temperature even in all parts of the cooling system.

It is the fact that all cooled air is kept at an operating degree of humidity, moisture is supplied by an automatic operating mechanism so that the chief drawbacks to refrigeration—drying-out, which causes shrinkage, and transfer of odors, is

Stanley Park's Big Bear Is Weighed

Canadian Press
Vancouver, July 28.—Trotky, the Siberian bear of Stanley Park, was weighed yesterday.

The monster brute, willing to pose for a payment in kind of peanuts, nevertheless has several notches on his claws for mangled bodies of persons who have approached too near his cage. The weighing, therefore, was a problem, and occupied eight men for two hours.

Trotky was locked in the back of his den, and the scales, weighing 200 pounds, were hoisted over the outer bars. A trail of condensed milk and herring was laid down to lure him into the plot.

Trotky was let out. "Rumph," he said, "don't know what those boys are up to, but the milk is delicious. Let's try the fisher's." He put a paw on the scales. "Something wrong," he growled. "I feel it move." More milk and more herring finally enticed him on, and the weight

Sulphur in Sun, States Astronomer

This brings to sixty the number of chemical elements known to exist in the solar atmosphere. Thirty-two additional have been identified on the earth. Dr. Babcock said that "with the aid of new laboratory material on analysis and unpublished infra-red solar wave lengths," he had identified seventeen sulphur lines in the sun's spectrum "without question and six with some doubt."

Dorothy Dix

THERE was a time when a vacation was regarded as an extravagance and when men who were worn out and peeped, at fifty boasted that they had never "seen one in their lives. "No, sir, we did not indulge in any of those office luxuries when I was young. Then an able-bodied man worked year in and year out without ever knocking off for a single day unless he was sick. Vacations. Nuhuh!"

Now, however, we have grown wise enough to perceive that a vacation is not only a necessity but an investment that pays about the highest percentage that any man or woman can get on their time and money. We have found out that a man, like a horse, can go farther in six days than he can in seven, and that nothing wears out the human machine as quickly as to run it continually without rest.

And we have also found out that there is no medium either for the body or mind if the change of scene, of occupation, of thought. We get fed up with doing the same thing over and over again and lose interest in it. We grow tired of the people who are our inseparable companions and get to the point where we can see nothing but their faults and blunders. The treadmill gets upon our nerves and we grow fretful and peevish and about as comfortable as live with a 100° hot sun.

As a doctor would say, the remedy indicated for this mental and physical state is a vacation. It is one of the never-failing remedies that, taken in time, can be guaranteed not only to cure that tired feeling but to stimulate a new growth of energy and ambition, to turn slackers into go-getters, to stop wives from whining and complaining and to prevent divorce.

But note well that while a vacation is a sovereign antidote for whatever ails us, it is not one of those potent nostrums where the whole family does out of the same bottle and that works equally well on grandpa and the baby. A vacation to be efficacious must be an individual prescription and one compounded by the individual, for its really healing power consists in doing the one thing that you want to do and most enjoy doing.

This is the reason that when husbands and wives take a vacation together they so often come back looking worse than when they went away, and not on civil speaking terms with each other. They have spent their money and have had a rotten time because it is only in rare cases that men and women enjoy doing the same things or respond to the same stimulation.

A man, for instance, who spends his life toiling in a crowded city where he is suffocated by his fellow creatures and where he has to keep on his tiptoes all of the time, longs to get away for a vacation to some quiet secluded spot where he can simply let himself go. Some place where he will have no one to talk to but the fish, where he won't have to shave or dress up, where there will be nothing doing.

But a woman's idea of a perfect vacation is to have a trunk full of new clothes and go to some fashionable resort where she can change her frock six times a day and keep the other women rubbering. She wants the bright lights and something doing every minute because that is a change for her from the dull routine of domesticity.

So why shouldn't husbands and wives use a little sense about their vacations and teach do what he or she wants to do instead of one being sacrificed to the other? Anyway, a vacation is never such a life-saver as when it parts husbands and wives for a few weeks. Then it becomes not only the elixir of youth, but a love potion that restores to them all the joys of the honeymoon.

When they part the man may have seen his wife only as a fat and funny middle-aged woman and wondered whatever he saw in her to make him pick her out for a life companion. The woman may have beheld in her husband only a middle-aged, bald-headed man who made her marvel every time she met her open eyes upon him how he ever landed her into Prince to her. But let them open up their separate ways on a vacation and there they are once more grunted absence has done its perfect work and each then realizes how near and dear and necessary to each other they are. No longer are their evenings spent in silence. They chatter like magpies about their different adventures.

But while a vacation is a valuable tonic for men and, if taken regularly, prevents shakiness in their work and flippers on the brain and other ills that middle-aged men are subject to, it is really the domestic wife and mother who needs the treatment most. Otherwise she is due for a monument in the cemetery or a nervous breakdown or to become a natter.

It is the accumulated boredom of getting meals and sweeping floors and washing the baby's face and getting the children off to school and putting up with husband's peculiarities that frizzes wives' nerves to fiddle-strings and makes them complain and whining and faultfinding, and the one and only specific for this trouble is a vacation. A railroad ticket would save many a man a limb.

Even children need vacations. They need to get away from mother and father and home and a visit of a month to Aunt Maria or Grandma or a summer in camp would send them back so improved their own mothers wouldn't know them.

Everyone needs a vacation. Take one, but pick out your own particular brand.

Favor Public Works Over Direct Relief

Catholic Women Pass Resolutions at Final Session To-day; Want Better Bathing Costumes; Mrs. J. Coffey of Montreal Chosen President; Ottawa Gets 1935 Convention

The Catholic Women's League of Canada at its final session this morning went on record as being in favor of a public works program that will, at least temporarily, relieve the depression and do away with the payment of direct relief, except to those physically unable to work.

Another resolution "viewed with concern the use of indirect modes of helping people supplied by the various manufacturers" and asked the members to refrain from buying expensive styles in these garments and demand that a covering which complies with ordinary decency be put on sale.

The league pledged itself to continue the campaign for the elimination of objectionable features from moving pictures, such as sex and gangster films; reiterated its opposition to all methods of artificial birth control; and legislation calling for sterilization, and endorsed the suggested program for the education of youth as laid down at the Inter-Continental Congress of Women held in Rome last April.

The Christian education of Orientals in Vancouver was the theme of another resolution, the convention recording its stand that the maintenance of this work should be made a national endeavor, rather than be left solely to the care of the Pacific Coast subdivisions as has been done in the past.

The convention called upon all members of the church to do their utmost to preserve and further the cause of peace and provided the observance of war and condemnation of the manufacture of arms for private profit.

Yankees-Detroit Duel Still Keen

Only Half a Game Separates Two Teams in Battle For American Baseball League Lead; Both Won Yesterday; Ruffing Scores Third Straight Shutout

Nicky Cokran's Detroit Tigers were back in the west today, no longer in first place but more feared than ever by the rest of the American League.

There was more to come at the Tiger record of ten victories and five defeats in the east. The New York Yankees, despite twelve victories in sixteen games on their home grounds, picked up only a game and a half on the Tigers. Detroit squeaked out an 8 to 7 victory over the Chicago White Sox yesterday, in ten innings, and remained only a half game away from the Yankees who won a 5 to 0 victory over the Washington Senators.

Red Ruffing scored his third consecutive shutout, his fourth victory in a row and stretched his scoreless innings to twenty-nine as the Yankees downed Washington. The big red-head allowed only three hits. Five singles off Monte Weaver gave the Yankees three runs and the ball game in the fifth.

Bob Johnson's twenty-third homer and Jimmy Fox's twenty-first helped Philadelphia Athletics whip Boston's Red Sox, 7 to 1, in the only other game.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE

Diomedes of Andy High as manager of Syracuse Chiefs overshadowed all other International League developments today. Announcement High was through came yesterday evening from President John Corbett. No summer has been chosen. Reason for High's dismissal was not made known. Filling in at third base Andy suffered an ankle injury that kept him out of the game for three weeks early in the season. The Chiefs were in second place yesterday after taking an 8 to 6 beating from Albany Senators yesterday.

Rochester returned to second place, six games behind Newark, by winning Toronto in a night game, 5 to 2. Baltimore broke an eight-game losing streak by taking a night decision from Newark in a wild contest, 12-10. Stain forced postponement of the Buffalo-Montreal game.

TILICUMS TO MEET CAFEMEN

Clubmen With Strengthened Team Hope to Humble Poodle Dog Nine To-night

Joe Curry, newly appointed manager of the Tillicums' ball club, will test out a considerably strengthened squad when the clubmen oppose the Poodle Dog Cafe side in this evening's Senior Baseball League fixture at the Athletic Park at 6:15 o'clock.

Covering the initial cushion will be Tommy Restell, who has turned in a number of good performances for the Tillicums. The keynote combination will be L. Murray and Henry Harris, two smart infielders from the Twilight League, while the veteran Fred Gibbons will look after the hot corner.

For outfield duty Manager Curry will have a raft of material from which to select his fly chasers, including Art Chapman, Chuck Chapman, L. O. Fleetwood-Smith and a number of other players.

Lloyd Jones, outfielder, will go the tillicum, with Fred McInnis at the receiving end.

Jack Noble is expected to get the call from the Poodle Dog Cafe camp with Brewster as his battery mate.

Australians Win Match With Ease

Taunton, Eng. June 28.—The touring Australians yesterday defeated the Somerset County cricket eleven by an innings and 71 runs.

L. O. Fleetwood-Smith and W. J. O'Reilly shared the bowling honors, the former getting six second innings wickets for 54 runs, after O'Reilly had rolled nine in the first innings for 36 runs.

Closing scores: Somerset 116 and 118, Australians 300. Captain P. M. Woodfull ran up 94 runs, Leonard Darling 79 and W. A. Barnett 51.

BRITAIN BUILDS "GLUED WARSHIP"

London, June 28.—Three new British destroyers were launched yesterday, one at Cowes and two at Barrow. The former, named the Forester, has been dubbed the "glued warship," because all her plates are welded, instead of riveted, thereby saving a great deal of weight.

Don Moe Rallies To Beat Shields

Portland Links Star Eliminates Seattle Ace 2 Up to Gain Semi-finals in P.N.W. Golf at Spokane; Whaley, Storey and White Other Victors

Spokane, June 28.—Squeezing out victory in a sparkling battle that had some 1,000 golfers in the stands, Don Moe, internationally famous Hawaiian, kept Portland in the race for the Pacific Northwest amateur golf championship, yesterday, while Ralph Whaley, Seattle, and Ken Storey and Bob White, both of Spokane, captured the other three semi-final places with comparative ease.

Moe, after blowing a five-hole lead, pulled himself together, like the time he won back seven holes and scored out Bill Stout, England, in a Walker Cup match four years ago. He won the last two holes to eliminate Johnny Shields, Seattle, 2 up.

Whaley conquered Don Ward, after an uphill fight, 3 and 2; Storey triumphed, 2 and 1, over E. M. Johnson, 3 and 1, and White smothered his fellow townsman, Ward Wortman, sixteen-year-old sensation, 9 and 7.

In the quarter-finals, Shields and White shared Spokane of a place in the finals, as the two met today in the upper bracket.

The Moe-Shields battle was a nip-and-tuck, slug-and-bunt contest from start to finish and drew most of the gallery all day.

Horse Racing In Northwest Opens

Limit Fields Assured For Lansdowne Meeting Which Starts To-morrow

Vancouver, June 28.—Limit fields, with the maximum number of starters in each event set at twelve, except in handicaps, are definitely assured for the opening of British Columbia's horse racing season, at Lansdowne Park, to-morrow.

A majority of the horses stabled at the two local tracks, Strathmore and Lansdowne, have kept their charges in training for the last two months in preparation for the inaugural ceremonies, while newcomers to these parts have merely freshened up their representatives, and are ready to go to the post any time.

President Judge W. J. McKoon is particularly enthusiastic concerning the outlook from a competitive viewpoint than at any other time since he assumed his present office some three or four years ago.

"I have been actively associated with the British Columbia turf in an official capacity since 1920," he said yesterday, "and never at any time have we had so many high-class runners and riders at our disposal as are available for to-morrow's opening."

Judge McKoon frankly states that he will be quite surprised if some new track records are not set at Lansdowne during the first meeting.

"I fully realize some of the runners are not actually tightened up and ready for their best effort," he declared, "but a race or two will round them right up to their real form and, with a lightning-hot track in prospect, some new time marks should be established."

Discussing riders, the president stated that judging from statistics and other information already received, the pilots will be as much improved on the average over other years as the thoroughbred.

"Of course, I am not stating that we will uncover another Jimmy Hunter or Hank Miller," he said, "but we are adding to our roster of what the future holds. The prospect of two major league stars in successive seasons. Why not move?"

MINE UNION RANKS SPLIT

Canadian Press
Pitts Ferry, Man., June 28.—The once solid ranks of the Mine Workers' Union of Canada, leaders in the three-week-old strike of workers against the Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Company here, were split today as 100 members, charging "outside interference," withdrew from the organization.

The men to-day issued a statement saying the union is dominated by organizers from outside points, which they said is not in the interests of the strikers. The 1,500 employees of the company have been on strike for three weeks, seeking higher wages.

Girl Track Stars Going to London

Vancouver, June 28.—British Columbia will be represented by four Vancouver girl athletes at the London, Ont., trials for the Canadian Empire Games team. Miss Anne Clark, secretary of the Women's Amateur Athletic Federation, and also secretary of the B.C. branch, announced yesterday evening.

The quartette, including Mary Primm, Dominion 100-metre champion; Margaret Bell, Canadian intermediate high jump champion; Lillian Palmer, Canadian 200-metre titleholder; and Margaret Stone, high school sprint star, were to leave to-day on route east, accompanied by Miss Clark.
